Dallas, Texas— MDI, Inc. is proud to announce that they have been recognized as a local and national leader in construction safety. MDI, Inc. has received a Construction Safety Excellence Award from Quoin (the local chapter of the Associated General Contractors) and a National Associated General Contractors Safety Award. “Being acknowledged as a national leader in safety is one of the highest honors we could receive because it recognizes our continuing commitment to the safety of everyone who enters one of our jobsites – from the architect to the excavator to the painter,” says Frank Pieschel, President and Marketing Director of MDI.

“According to the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), there are over 9 million construction workers that build and maintain roads, houses, workplaces and physical infrastructure. This work includes many inherently hazardous tasks and conditions such as work at height, excavations, noise, dust, power tools and equipment, confined spaces, and electricity. Construction has about 6% of U.S. workers, but 20% of the fatalities - the largest number of fatalities reported for any of the industry sectors.” Addressing the safety of individuals in this inherently dangerous profession is no small feat. MDI’s program not only addresses safety for their employees but it is embraced by all of the trades working with this company. “Developing a program is one thing, but having subcontractors embrace and support it is something completely different,” says Tracy Skelton, Safety and General Field Manager, “We are pleased and proud that our safety program is utilized by all of the tradesmen we work with.”

MDI, Inc. is a family-owned and operated business that prides itself on its strength. Its mission is “As your contractor of choice, the MDI team provides safe, creative and quality construction services from concept through occupancy.” For over 40 years, MDI, Inc. General Contractors has specialized in new construction, renovations, and interior finish-outs for churches, schools, retail, office and public facilities working throughout Texas.
